

CAREER ARC

SNAPSHOT

Currently: CEO, Mach Natural Resources (NYSE: MNR) — OKC

Background: OU '81 · Petroleum Land Mgmt · Co-founded Chesapeake Energy

Notable: Co-founded Chesapeake with Aubrey McClendon on a handshake in 1989

READY-MADE OPENERS

Easy start → "I've been watching Mach's acquisition pace in the Anadarko — it's a similar thesis to what we're running on the Eastern Shelf. I'd love to hear how you think about deal flow in a mature basin."

Going deeper → "Mach feels like the distilled version of everything you've learned across four companies. What's the one thing you'd do differently this time if you could?"

Bold move → "You and Aubrey McClendon built Chesapeake from $50K on a handshake. Now you're running a distributions-focused LP. That's a massive philosophical shift — was there a specific moment that changed your thinking?"

CONVERSATION TOPICS

■ The Mach Model vs. Old Playbook

Mach is deliberately a high-yield distribution vehicle — the opposite of the Chesapeake/SandRidge growth model. He's explicitly learned from past mistakes. Ask what made him shift from the growth-at-all-costs model to distributions-first.

■ Anadarko Basin Consolidation

Mach is the dominant PDP acquirer in the Anadarko Basin — same strategy as Peak 10 on the Eastern Shelf. Direct overlap in acquisition philosophy. Compare notes on mature basin economics — what does he see in the Anadarko that the market is missing?

■ Public MLP Structure

Mach went public as an LP in 2023 — unusual structure for modern E&P.; Understanding his capital markets rationale could inform Peak 10's exit planning. Ask about the decision to go public vs. staying private — what did it unlock?

■ The SandRidge Leadership Team at Mach

TACTICAL NOTES

AVOID

- Don't dwell on the SandRidge activist situation or Chesapeake controversies — he's heard it all and it's old news